

LabVantage[®] Overview

Successful labs have a common formula – great people, streamlined processes and the right science. Lab managers need an easy to use, modern LIMS that allows them to use these assets effectively. LabVantage helps top companies run their labs more efficiently.

LabVantage can help you run your lab more efficiently by managing not only your data but your lab processes – across the globe. Use a single, secure source for storing, retrieving, analyzing and maintaining all your laboratory data.

Prepare for the future

Your business is growing, and the need to run your lab more efficiently is more critical than ever. If your current system is obsolete, complicated or error prone – if you've simply outgrown your current or homegrown system, our LIMS solution can help you:

- Consolidate multiple systems across the company
- Bring a high-tech solution to your newly built facility
- Meet certain lab certifications, i.e. FDA, CLIA
- Create the customized reports you need

The #1 LIMS in the Market

LabVantage offers the comprehensive, web-based LIMS software solution you need to successfully make your lab more efficient and enforce consistent processes. Use a modern system capable of deploying globally and supporting hundreds of concurrent users to reduce data silos. By investing heavily in product development, we are able to release product improvements regularly so you continue to have the most innovative solution possible. We offer multiple solutions for the smallest to the enterprise lab, with feature-rich editions for all types of labs including R&D, quality control, contract labs and biobanks. Picking the right solution helps you go live with your new LIMS faster than you expect.

Customer Focused

Our professional services team combines global business and technical resources into a package of consulting, implementation and development services. Our experienced team of solution engineers, business analysts, and project managers bring their industry knowledge to partner with you beyond software delivery to help you improve your processes. We have worked with hundreds of customers to make them successful.
